Project Progress Report
Darren Muliawan

I have been able to get the Python script to run forever on the Cloud. I am also able to run the ExpertSearch system on my local machine. I am currently still working on implementing the service to monitor the faculty websites and automatically add new faculty members to the dataset. So far, I have not faced any challenges.